POETRY.

From the Round Table. THE NATION'S DEAD.

Four hundred thousand men The brave, the good, the true, In tangled wood, in mountain glen, On battle plain, in prison pen, Lie dead for me and you! Four hundred thousand of the brave Have made our ransomed soil their grave, Good friend, for me and you!

In many a fevered swamp, By many a black bayou, In many a cold and frozen camp, The weary sentinel ceased his tramp And died for me and you! From Western plain to ocean tide Are stretched the graves of those who died For me and you! Good friend, for me and you!

On many a bloody plain

Their ready swords they drew,
And poured their life-blood, like the rain, A home, a heritage to gain,-To gain for me and you! Our brothers mustered by our side, They marched and fought and bravely died

For me and you! Good friend, for me and you! Up many a fortress wall They charged—those boys in blue— 'Mid surging smoke and volleyed ball;

The bravest were the first to fall,-To fall for me and you! These noble dead—the nation's pride,-Four hundred thousand men have died For me and you!

Good friend, for me and you! In treason's prison hold Their martyr spirits grew
To stature like the saints of old, While, amid agonies untold, They starved for me and you! The good, the patient, and the tried, Four hundred thousand men have died For me and you! Good friend, for me and you! A debt we ne'er can pay And to the nation's latest day Our children's children still shall say, "They died for me and you!

Made this our ransomed soil their grave For you and me! Good friend, for me and you! SONG FOR THE TIMES.

Four hundred thousand of the brave

Give me the man whose earnest heart To principle is ever true, One who from right would not depart,

Although a crown were placed in view A man whose principle svails, In every place,—wherever tried,— One in whose soul the true prevails,

Although the multitude deride. Give me the man that wavers not. With hope to catch the rabble votes, Nor filiates with drone or sot, Nor with the selfish current floats; But who, with manliness of soul, Opposes evil—censures wrong,— Whose influence is high control— To such the smiles of God belong. Give me the man that never bends A moment from the line of right;

Who never with the halting blends But stands up firm, with manly might, A man that loves an upright way, Although that way be trod by few,-

One who from justice would not sway, For coronet of brightest hue. Give me the man whose high intent, Is fixed to do what good he can-

Whose energies are wisely bent, To carry out each useful plan,— A man who never skulks and hides, When principles are brought in sight, But firm, and true, and strong, abides, And manfully defends the right.

I would indeed the world had hosts Of men like these, a noble dower, Forever faithful at their posts, Unflinehing in each trial hour, Undaunted by each menace strong-But ever firm against all wrong, The champions of each noble cause.

We send out a number of papers to those who are not on our list of subscribers. If you can help yourselves and us too, you will have an approving conscience and our sincere thanks.

VOLUME III.

We see no necessity for a prospectus. It is an old proverb, "The proof of the pudding is ing the militia of the rebel States, orin the eating." We have very far from satisfled ourselves in the past; but acquired experience will we trust enable us to make a better paper. Local matters and interests will claim our attention, general news etc. Politically, we shall continue to inscribe on our banners-Equal Justice to All Men; Do unto others as we would be done by. Regardless of Presidents and Congresses, this is the polar star of our political creed. We aim to publish an independent journal. Soon after we started this paper, we met on the cars a veteran in the newspaper business—over 20 years an editor— "We hear," said he, "that you have entered upon the publication of a paper at Ypsilanti." "Yes." "Permit a piece of advice from an old stager in the business: Ever please yourother parties go to the d-l. It is my experience that every subscriber lost on this basis gains two." We have concluded that it was good advice, and shall adhere to it, let the consequences be what they may.

CONGRESS.

All parties are looking with intense interest to Congress. Perhaps at no period of our country's history did such a weight of responsibility rest upthe Southern aristocracy is to triumph over us after being defeated in battle -who are to reap the fruits of the war coped with domestic treason and foreign hate, but the real struggle with the spirit of oppression is to come .-Raised from the lower ranks he is nevertheless tinged with the Southern pride of a white nobility. The whites of the South are so full of treason that a white man's government must be a government of traitors. But be they traitors or not Mr. Johnson is willing save his country, but the traitors he fought must reconstruct the government and he, the black loyalist must stand in the back ground. In our view to-ignore the black man's vote is to reanimate rebellion. Congress is disposed to treat the traitor as a traitor and the loyalist as a loyalist. The former to take back seats in reconstruction and bestow upon the latter the ballot. It is grievous to lose to the cause of freedom and equal rights the executive arm of the Government. With the President opposed what can Congress hope to accomplish? Congress has the power of impeachment, and if the President boldly persists in selling out the loyal people of the nation to traitors let him be impeached.

On the President's plan our victory goes for nothing. We are in just the same condition, politically, that we should have been, if defeated. If Johnson is right, McClellan was right. If we have not gained the rights of conquerers, we have acted like mad men in our lavish expenditure of life and money. McClellan was for avoiding bloody battles because they would A gentleman calls for the names. Well supbring us no benefits. Johnson was for know them.") It is consistent with the enlightened prinpiples of a free people to be generous; and it is due human consideration as well as good policy, to harmonize the contending political elements as speedily as possible. Still I am deeply impressed with the danger of reliance on the fair promises of the Southern leaders. We should have proofs, strong proofs of their sincerity. The acts of their officials and conventions lag behind their sweet phra-

Those oaths and pledges mingled with the smoke of the first gun which fired upon Fort Sumpter; and when we pause to count the thousands of precious lives sacrificed, or listen to the sorrows of the widows and orphans around us, or estimate the vast expenditure required to crush the efforts of the very men who are now arrogantly de-manding equal political rights, I believe we are justifiable in viewing with suspicion our present relations with the South.

Home Enterprise. That Ypsilanti is a manufacturing town would be acknowledged by any stranger who should traverse the city. Besides our capacious water power we have several steam engines operating in various parts of the city. At the corner of Cross and River Sts, Norris Block, is located the Ypsilanti Wood Manufacturing Co., Mathews & Batchelder, proprietors. The building is three stories high. They occupy two main rooms reaching from the basement to the loft. The motive power is a first class engine of 30 horse power. The running geer or machinery is mostly in the basement. There are three circucular saws, an axhelve lathe, two spoke lathes, three finishing machines, tenonder, shaping machines and turning lathe, belting machine, up length saw. The company manufacture 8,000 spokes per week, 1,000 ax helves or whiffletrees. Twelve hands are employed. They export largely to Chicago also to Ohio, Indiana, Pensylvania and New York. This Institution is quite a credit to Ypsilanti. Mr. James Dickinson was one of dered on file, and printed with the proceedthe original proprietors and is deserving ings much credit in its inception. The present proprietors are adding new machinery and mean to make it as near perfect as practica-

NEW SASH AND BLIND FACTORY-Whit-more & Son, proprietors-under the head of Home Enterprise is a new claimant for public favor. It is located nearly opposite the Wood manufactory. The proprietors bought the building of John Kennedy long occupied by N. Philips as a Carriage and Wagon shop. They have enlarged it and made it a desirable manufacturing interest. The engine is only four horse power, but is a beauty. It is well worth a look at it. There is a tenonder, sticker and saws. It is a neat Factory and a credit to the proprietors. Business is somewhat dull. It always is period from fall to spring trade. As we stated last week goods can be bought very $80,00. cheap in Ypsilanti, probably cheaper than any other point in the State. Consult our advertising columns. The Grocery trade is liable to to the same mutation as other business and vet our advertisers for the season are doing well-Bush & Horner at the Depot maintain their supremacy as an agricultural and grocery es tablishment. Farmers will soon be buying their farming implements. This is the place Harding & Clark are running a strictly institution. As you pass on the street look up and you will see the sign of a star. This is the place. They are affable and fair dealing young men and can't help do-Dr. Henry is in a good locality, favoring especially the students. His stock of wares is not easily beaten.

On this side, Harington's is a new estab lishment. He keeps on hand a choice stock and has won his fair share of business. M.H.Brooks & Co. have long been favorably known to the community and if there is any business going this firm will have its share of patronage. A. Platt has become intrenched in Ypsilanti. Always keeping on hand a large stock probably the largest in the city he is prepared to do a wholesale or retail business. Doing so large a business he is enabled to sell on very favorable terms. Gorton Williams & Co. successors to A Leetch still keep up the fame of the Red Store. A live institution. All of the above firms are reliable and to our personal knowledge every way worthy the patronage of the public.

A Sad Accident. The engine "Flying Cloud" was blown to pieces and three men, one of them a citizen of this city was killed. It seems that these men had charge of the stock train which was loading at Denton's Mill with lumber. While the hands were loading the racks, they went on on to Ypsilauti with the engine for water. Returning a 1 mile this side of Denton's the explosion occured. Mr. S. Y. Denton our informant saw the whole transaction. He saw the engine backing up, when all at once he beheld the air literally filled with steam and flying pieces and immediately heard the re. port. He ran to the spot and the mangled remains of the victims met his gaze. One piece weighing all of eight tons was thrown 600 yds. distant. His theory of the explosion is that the boiler was empty and the fires being kept up, it became red hot and the sudden introduction of water caused the catastrophe. This theory accords with that of A. S. Sweet Locomotive Suprentendent of the road. Marshal Doty resided in this city and leaves a wife to mourn his untinely end. He was buried on Wednesday with Masonic Produce and Commission Business.

As the name indicates, not only RENEWS the growth of the hair when thin and falling off, but positively renews the color to his original stade when it is turning gree or white, whether caused by disease, grief or old age.

It will certainly do what is claimed for it, a fact to which aundreds, may thousands, who have used it, are ready and willing to testify. Where one notice is fairly used, in any community, its reputation "spreads like wild fire," and is the best advertisement and recommendation we desire. In the Eastern States, where he "RENEWER" originated, the young lastes use it as a originated, the young lawes use it as a hair dressing; it is found on the toilet tables of young men, (also at heir barbers), while older men and women who desire a Renguer and Restorative for their grey locks and bald heads will not be without this article, which gives in every instance, entire setisfaction tire setisfaction.
